PREFACE

The Govt. of Odisha has decided to strengthen the teaching/learning of English in Odia medium Govt. Schools. The English Language Teaching Institute (ELTI) has already prepared a handbook on teaching English at the primary level. About sixty thousand teachers have been trained with the help of the book, during 2016-2017 and each teacher has been provided with a copy of the book. Next, the ELTI with the help of SCERT and OPEPA has prepared this new series of textbooks in English from Class-III to Class- VIII based on sound principles of English Language Teaching and principles of pedagogy enshrined in NCF 2005. The books have been tried out with real learners and teachers. Necessary corrections have been made accordingly. I wish the teachers to read the introduction and notes for them provided in the books and teach the books accordingly. I also want the Inspecting Officials to go through the textbooks and supervise classes accordingly. The workbooks are carefully built into the textbooks. The teachers should use the books following a learner-centered approach and make learners do the tasks. They should correct learners' scripts and provide feedback. The Inspecting Officials are expected to supervise this regularly. Each textbook has also in-built tests to test the performance of both the learners and teachers. Language indicators for each class are also provided at the end of the book for the guidance of both the teachers and Inspecting Officials. This will help the parents to check the progress of their wards. Attempts are also being made to prepare similar textbooks in other subjects from the coming years based on these sound principles. But unfortunately, our attempts to strengthen teaching/learning through good textbooks failed to yield expected results due to wide spread prevalent of cheap bazar notes (Meaning Books) prepared only with the motives of commercial gains. These books provide cheap ready-made helps by working out the tasks/activities thereby preventing students from getting/developing skills and restrict them from the pleasure of doing the workbook tasks/activities on their own.

I am sure, the new series will help our learners excel in all the four language skills of English --- Listening, Speaking, Reading and Writing. I thank the Editors and the Reviewers for their sincere efforts in preparing the excellent materials. I also thank Dr. Manmatha Kundu, the Academic Adviser and Mr. Indramani Tripathy, the Director of ELTI under whose academic and administrative guidance the books were prepared.

Any suggestions for the improvement of the book are welcome.

The Secret of Language Learning

Language is mostly learned through exposure and use in meaningful contexts. While the exposure to language is mainly done through listening and reading, use is done through speaking and writing. The more one listens to a language and reads in a language, the more s/he gets exposed to the language. Exposure lays the foundation of a language and also the foundation for using the language. One cannot use (speak) the language unless one has sufficiently listened to the language. One cannot write the language unless one has widely read the language. And both the exposure and use are to be done in the meaningful contexts. What one listens and reads should be useful and interesting to him/her. Similarly, what one speaks and writes should also be interesting and useful for the user. In other words, all these are to be done in context and the user should be involved in activities. This is the secret behind learning any language.

The question, therefore, is how we can restructure our teaching and learning of English. First, our learners should be sufficiently exposed to English through listening. In case of acquiring mother tongue, a child listens to the language for long to be able to speak. Listening to the language lays the foundation for speaking. Do we provide enough exposure to English through listening before teaching our learners to speak and write in our schools? Certainly not. We usually tend to start teaching of English from reading and writing. This is why our learners face difficulties in learning English in Odia medium schools. In order to do this, we have to reverse the current trend of teaching English. Instead of beginning teaching of reading and writing, we should first develop the listening and speaking skills of our learners through storytelling and TPR (Total Physical Response) activities. The current primer of English (Class-III) has, therefore, been revised and rewritten with enough pre-primer activities (Storytelling, Rhymes, Known English Words, TPR etc.) before learners learn to read and write.
The Textbook

The class V English textbook has also been revised and rewritten keeping in mind the development of listening and speaking skills of our learners along with the skills of reading and writing. In this book, there are enough listening and speaking activities provided under each lesson mainly through listening and speaking activities. The lessons in the book are reorganized as follows:

Layout of the Textbook

- Fun with English
  - 04 (four)

- Lessons Proper
  - 08 (eight)

- Tests
  - 02 (two)

The four “Fun with English” lessons are simple and interesting. There are poems, rhymes and stories with very interesting mind-engaging activities, hence the name. The main purpose of this section is to help learners learn what they have not learned before. Currently, majority of learners are below their class level, in terms of skills, more so in English classes. If their skills are not levelled up through right kind of learning, the main lessons will not work and the teacher will take recourse to reading aloud, and explaining the text often in Odia and somehow to complete the course as they were accustomed to do before. The tasks provided, therefore, are tasks for beginners (Class- III and class- IV) such as handwriting, writing words, phrases and simple sentences mostly of copying kind- Listen and Talk, See and Write. These four “Fun with English” lessons serve as steps for reaching the lessons proper.
Lessons Proper

There are eight lessons – four prose pieces and four poems. These pieces are very carefully chosen, the main criteria of selection being simplicity (language) and interest value for the young learners of 10-11 years old. Each lesson has three major sections: Pre-reading, While-reading and Post-reading. The purpose of pre-reading is motivating the learners to read the text. The while-reading phase is devoted to interactive reading. The learner is taught to interact (communicate) with the writer through the text. This is the most important phase of the lesson. If this part is not properly done, the next phase, post-reading becomes futile. The post-reading phase is devoted to interesting learning activities based on the text. While doing these activities, the learner reads and rereads the text on his/her own without being conscious of the fact that s/he is reading so many times. The activities become the main product and learning skills come as by-product.

Follow-up Lessons

These are, in fact, sub-lessons of the main lessons. In this book there is only one sub-lesson under each main lesson. The sub-lessons are shorter and simpler than the main lessons. These are called follow-up lessons. The themes are related to the theme of the main lessons. Compared to the main lessons, the sub-lessons are less controlled in the sense that both the teacher and learners are given freedom to work on their own, the primary purpose being the development of autonomous learning. While the questions and activities are provided in the main lessons by the editors, teachers are encouraged to frame their own questions and activities for sub-lessons. Similarly the learners are encouraged to read and comprehend the text and do the activities on their own with less guidance from the teachers. Learners are encouraged to self-correct and peer-correct their own writings. The other purpose of these sub-lessons is to relate the main text to their daily life experiences and use of English. In other words, they are discouraged to be textbook centric. Earlier, all these sub-texts were called ‘tail-pieces' to be read and enjoyed by the learners . In addition to the sub-lessons, a few tail-pieces have also been provided in some lessons.

Tests

There are two tests, one after the 3rd lesson and the other at the end. The tests are of 100 marks each. The tests intend to test the English language skills of the learners, the skills expected to be developed through these lessons. The test results will provide feedback to both the learners and the teachers- the learners will get the feedback whether they have developed the English language skills studying the text or not and the teacher will get the feedback whether they have been successful in helping the learners develop the expected English language skills or not. The tests will also help teachers frame similar tests to be administered to students on a regular basis.

Interlinking materials and Methods

During the early phase of textbook writing, methods of teaching were not reflected in the textbook. So the teachers used their own ways of handling the text. Attempts have, therefore, been made to the link the material with method. The material writers while preparing the textbook, visualised the method the teacher is to use to transact the material in the classroom. In fact, now it is realised that method is more important than the materials shown through the mathematical calculations: Good Materials + Bad Method = No result, Bad Materials + Good Method = Some results. As a result, only those persons having first-hand experience of teaching are asked to prepare materials, and try them out with real learners is made obligatory. In this book, we have changed the current trend in our education. We have linked the materials with the methods. The general approach suggested is learner-centred and activity-oriented approach with some specific techniques of teaching such as BS (Brainstorming), Chain-drill, VMDT (Visual Memory Development Technique) and MT (Mental Talk). A brief description of these four techniques is provided in Appendix-II; Notes on Techniques.

Text

Once upon a time, there lived an old man and an old woman. One day the old man said, "Do make a bun for me, my dear."

The old woman took flour from a box, made dough out of flour. And from the dough, she made a little round bun. She baked it and put it on the window sill to cool.

The little round bun lay there for sometime. Then it rolled from the window to a bench, from bench to the floor and from the floor to the door. From the door it rolled out of the gate. It rolled on and on.

By and by it met a rabbit on the way. The rabbit said, "Stop little round bun, I'm going to eat you up."

"Don't do that, rabbit. Let me sing you a song" said the bun and it began to sing.
“Taken out of flour box
Made into a dough
And baked in the oven
And cooled on the sill.
I ran away from Grandpa
I ran away from Grandma
And I'll run away from the rabbit
This minute I'll.”
And off it rolled away.

1. There lived a mother, a father and their daughter in a town. The daughter was studying in class III. One day, they went to their village. The village had no electricity. In the evening, the only light they had was a kerosine lantern. The lantern was placed in the verandah. A lot of insects and some grasshoppers were moving round the lantern. The daughter pointing to a green grasshopper, asked his father, ‘What is this father?’ “This is a grasshopper”, replied the father. The daughter asked again “Why is it called a grasshopper”?

2. After week’s stay in the village, they came back to the town where they lived. One day the daughter came running to her mother and said, “Mother, come”. There is a househopper. Mother went inside the room and saw a wounded cockroach jumping up and down on the floor. She said, “This is not a househopper. This is a cockroach. You don’t know the difference between a grasshopper and a cockroach, girl.” But the daughter said, “No this is a ‘grasshopper’ Mummy. It hops on the house.” But the mother insisted, ‘No, that is a cockroach, not a grasshopper. But the daughter argued, “If one that hops on grass, is called a grasshopper, why can’t one that hops in house be called a househopper?”

There lived a couple in Bangalore. One winter morning they were on a walk. The road was unusually lonely. The weather was bit windy and foggy. The couple saw two boys doing something on a closed shutter of a shop. “What are the two boys doing so early in the morning?” the elderly woman asked her husband. “We are going that way, let’s see”, said the husband. When they came close, the boys ran away in a suspicious way. Coming close to the shutter, they saw the hand work of the boys. On the shutter it was written ‘TO LET’. Probably the owner wanted to let it out, the clever boys had inserted a small ‘i’ inbetween ‘TO’ and ‘LET’ making it ‘TOILET’. How intelligent the boys are!” exclaimed the wife. “But we fail them in English in our schools,” said the husband.

THE FROG AND THE CROW

I Pre-reading

- Look at the picture and answer the questions:
  1. What do you see in the picture?
  2. What are they doing?
  3. Can you guess what they are talking about?
     Let's read the story to know more about it.

II While-reading

- SGP-1

- Read paragraphs 1 and 2 silently and answer the questions provided under SGP-1.

1. A frog lived in a pond. The frog was big. No other frog in the pond was as big as him. This made him proud. Most of the time in summer, he lived inside water. But most of the time in winter, he lived outside the water. In water, he felt sad for the fishes. They had to live always inside water, summer or winter. He felt proud as well. He can live both in water and on land. When on land he felt sad for other animals. They could not live in water. This made him still more proud. He was better than both fishes in water and animals on land. He could both swim and walk. He could jump as well. He felt sad for animals that could only walk. “What a sad thing! One could only walk and could not jump!” he said to himself, “Life will be really boring to live only in water or on land; to walk or jump”.

2. Thus, the frog spent most of his time thinking about himself; how only he can live both inside and outside water, both walk and jump. “I am better than both fishes and animals.” he said to himself again and again. When rain came, he said this louder and louder, “Croak, croak, croak. Listen you fools, you fishes – you can’t live on land, but I can croak, croak, croak; You fools, you animals, you can’t jump but I can,”

- Comprehension Questions:
  1. Who are there in this part of the story?
  2. Where did the frog live?
  3. Where did it live in summer?
  4. Where did it live in winter?
  5. How did he feel in water?
  6. Why was the frog proud?
  7. What made him more proud?
  8. Why did he feel sad for animals?
  9. Why did he feel sad for fishes?
  10. How did he spend most of his time?
  11. What did he say louder when rain came?
  12. Who is 'I' in the last para?
  13. Do you like this type of behaviour of the frog?
  14. Now, the frog is so proud and saying croak, croak, croak loudly. Will he continue like this? (Read the last part to know what happened to him.)

- SGP-2

  Read paragraphs 3-4 silently and answer the questions that follow.

  3. The more he sang, the more proud he became. His voice became more and more sweet to him day by day. “Neither the fishes nor the animals can croak but I can,” he said to himself and went on croaking, closing his eyes. A crow came and sat nearby. He heard the frog croaking. The frog opened his eyes and saw the crow close by and said to himself,"Poor crow! He can't live in water, he can't jump and he can't croak." Does the crow know that he can't swim or jump and croak like me? No, he does not. I'll let him know?" So he asked, "Mr. Crow, can you swim like me?" "No, I can't", replied the crow and came little closer.

"Can you jump like me, Mr. Crow?", the frog asked.

"No, I can't," said the crow but came a step forward.

"Can you croak like me, Mr. Crow?" the frog asked again.

"No, I can't," said the crow coming a step nearer the frog.

4. Then the frog said in one breath, "You can't swim like me. You can't jump like me. You can't croak like me. Then, what can you do Mr. Crow?"

The crow said, "I can catch you like this Mr. Frog and fly away only."

And the crow caught the neck of the frog and flew away.

- Comprehension Questions

THE KING WHO LOVED STORIES

- Read the following text silently and do the activities that follow.

Once there was a king. He loved to listen to stories. He loved to listen to stories in the morning. He loved to listen to stories at noon. He loved to listen to stories in the afternoon. He loved to listen to stories in the evening and at night.

   Listening to stories almost became a disease with him. He did not do any work. The only work he did was listening to stories. He appointed hundreds of story-tellers to tell him stories. When the king was in the bathroom or when he was asleep, someone told him stories. But every story had an end. There was always a gap of time between the ending of a story and beginning of another story. This gap he did not like. So he wanted an endless story.

   He promised to give half of his kingdom if one told him an endless story. Hundreds of story-tellers came. But everyone’s tale had an end. Then he promised to give the whole of his kingdom and his beautiful daughter if someone told him an endless story. But on one condition. If one failed, his head would be cut off. Being afraid of death, no one came for a long time. But finally came a brave and handsome young man. He started;

“Once there was a great famine. A hundred thousands of locusts searched for food. They looked for food everywhere. Finally, they found a king's barn full of grain. But there was only one small hole, large enough for only one locust to get in. One got in, brought a grain and came out. Next another, next another, next another ..........”

The king was tired of listening to the story. And he knew the story would never come to an end. He, therefore, asked the brave young man to stop the story and gave him his kingdom and his daughter in marriage. From that day he was cured of his disease of listening to stories. He realised the truth once for all.

“If a story has no end, it stops to be a story.”

Wake up! Wake up!

Oh! Please get up.
And come and play.
The birds are singing in the trees,
You can hear the buzzing bees.

Wake up! Wake up!

Oh! Please get up.

It's too much late to lie in bed,

APPENDIX-I

NOTES FOR TEACHERS

In helping learners learn, the teacher's role is very crucial. A country's education is as good as its teachers. In order to help our learners learn English we wish you to read the introduction to class-III English Primer before you read the introduction of this book. We have revised all our English textbooks from class III to class VIII and all these books now follow a common pattern well supported by sound pedagogy. It will, therefore, be easy on your part now to deal with all these textbooks to help your learners learn English. In our introduction to class III English textbook, we have stated, in some details, the problems of teaching English in the first year of learning English and how we have solved these problems. There was a big gap between the class III and class IV English textbooks. We have bridged the gap by carefully redesigning both the textbooks. Now the class III students, who will read the new book, will have no problem in reading this book. But students who have studied the old book and now studying in class IV, are likely to have some problems.

But we have tried to solve these problems through the introduction of remedial trailer lessons to class IV textbook. Stated below are some suggestions for you on how to deal with different parts of a lesson.

Socialization – Every class should start with socialization and end with leave taking as suggested in the introduction to class III textbook.

Teacher: Good Morning students.

Students: Good Morning sir/madam.

Teacher: How are you students?

Students: Fine, thank you sir/madam. And you?

Teacher: I'm fine, thank you.

Leave Taking

Teacher: Good bye students. See you in the next class. Have a good day.

Students: Thank you sir/madam. Good bye.
Trailer-Lessons

The main purpose of trailer lessons, as stated before, is to help the learners learn what they did not learn in the previous classes. It includes learning to write capital and small letters with right strokes and learn how to write words, phrases, sentences and a small chunk of writing in good hand. In order to take away the boredom of this task, we have placed different tasks in between songs. Learners will sing a song together, enjoy and forget the hard work done before and get ready to work again after brief relaxation. It is good to take the learners in confidence in this regard. Tell them this is little bit hard work. We will work hard and enjoy with a song. Once taken into confidence, they will cooperate. Impositions will not work. As the main purpose is setting the learner's handwriting right, the instructions for good handwriting are provided in Appendix-III; Notes on Methods.

After a session of writing, you are to see what the learners have written, correct their errors and provide feedback. If the class is large and you cannot see everyone's script, it is better to see some scripts, find common mistakes and provide class feedback (feedback for the whole class) using the blackboard. To help students who lag behind, who fail to do the task, you have to help them personally and/or ask your good students to help them (as most of the good students complete their tasks early). If we do not help them at this stage, they will be problem for us in future.

Each trailer lesson has six sessions, one session for one class of 45 minutes; duration.

Main Lessons

Each main lesson, as stated before, has three sessions- pre-reading, while-reading and post-reading.

Pre-reading

At this stage, your role is to motivate your learners to read the text and we have suggested ways to help you. All the instructions for you and your learners are to be spoken by you to the learners. You just see them, read aloud what is written as if you are speaking to your students. Finding a pre-reading activity is difficult if you have no better alternative, better stick to the one that is provided.
While-reading

This, as stated before, is the most important part of a lesson. Take extra care not to read aloud and explain. Allow students to read on their own and comprehend as much as they can. When you ask them to read silently, you do two things – see that all are engaged in reading and get yourself ready for the question answer part. Even if some of your students are incapable of reading, let them see the text. Even seeing the text and getting a picture of it will be of some help for learning, better than your explanation of the text. While asking questions, follow the suggestions provided in Appendix-III.

Do not ask your students to write at this stage. This phase is purely for verbal transaction. Students will keep open their textbooks and locate the answers in their texts. Students who cannot read and comprehend will also gain if they just look at the text again and again. And if they do this for long, they will somehow learn to read. All our previous experiences are stored in our brain as pictures- the places and sights we have seen whether we have understood them fully or not. Let them store the picture of the page /paragraph in their mind in this way. Some comprehension questions can be asked both in English and Odia. Students can answer in words / phrases and at times in Odia, Student should not be forced to answer in complete sentences.

Post-reading

As stated before this phase has a series of mind engaging interesting activities for the students. Your job is to make the learners do these activities. While doing these activities, learners will most of the time, keep open their books and will be allowed to consult the text at the time of need. Remember, at this stage the learners will read and reread the text many a time on their own without being aware of the fact that they have read the text so many times. What they have not understood during while-reading phase, they understand now. The self-learning that you have initiated during while-reading now bears fruit. To do the activities, they read the text on their own again and again.

For easy transaction of post-reading activities of all the main lessons follow a common pattern. There are nine kinds of activities for each of the lessons bearing the same number. For example, the VMDT activity bears the number -1 and comes first in all the main lessons. Let's describe what you have to do for each of the activity from activity 1 to 9.

1. VMDT (Visual Memory Development Technique)

   Please read about this method in Appendix-II. The objective of this method is to develop the visual memory of the learners. Once visual memory is developed, learning becomes easy. Usually under this, two kinds of activities are provided—the whole text and the part of a text. First VMDT is done for the whole text and then for a smaller part of it. Learners take photograph of the part with their eye cameras and then locate the answer as per your question. Then open their eyes and verify. For each item this procedure is followed. Students are found to enjoy this activity very much. And the advantage of this activity is that the teachers need not always verify whether the learners have done the activity correctly or not. The teacher can see only some. The learners take the responsibility of identifying and correcting their own errors.

2. Comprehension Activities

   The purpose of these activities is helping learners get an overall comprehension of the text. Different types of activities are provided in the text.

3. Listening

   Listening lays the foundation for other language skills. Therefore, we have included listening activities — you are to read aloud either some words or a chunk (a small paragraph or a stanza) your students listen to you and do the task provided in their book. You have to read aloud slowly and clearly. You can also repeat the part. After your students do the task, you can provide class feedback, if the students are more in number. You write the correct answers on the blackboard. The learners self-correct their scripts.

4. Speaking

   Usually three kinds of activities are included under speaking—reading aloud, chain-drill and dialogue. For reading aloud, follow the suggestions provided in Appendix-III: Rules of Reading Aloud.
For chain-drill read about the method stated before. The lines to be drilled are provided. If students are low – proficient and shy, you can first have a rehearsal – you read aloud the line, students repeat after you. Do this two times. You can also write the line on the blackboard in good handwriting.

For dialogues, follow the following steps;
1. Write the dialogue in good handwriting on the blackboard.
2. Have a rehearsal – you read aloud, students repeat.
3. 2 rounds: Teacher- vs. - students, students –vs. - students

5. Vocabulary (as suggested)

6. Usage (as suggested)

Very simple activities are provided under these two heads (5 and 6).

7. Writing

Writing is a very important activity. More time should, therefore, be given for the purpose. The writing activity is placed towards the end as all the previous activities prepare ground for writing which is a very difficult task. Activities provided under this head are of two kinds: one sentence answer type questions from the text and other interesting/ creative activities. The first kind of activities lays the foundation for the second type of activities.

For one sentence answer type questions

- Help students to locate the answer in the text
- Get half the answer from the question itself and half from the text
- The tense for question and answer should be the same.

If the question is in the past tense, the answer should be in the past tense, for example.

- It will be better if you yourself do these writing tasks as your preparation before asking students to do.

8. Mental Talk (MT)

Read about the method provided in Appendix-II. You yourself practise mental talk first before asking your students to do mental talk.

9. Let’s Think

As the name suggests, the objective of this task is to activate the mind of the students – to think.
10. Follow-up Lessons

These lessons, as stated before, are sub-lessons based on the main lessons but comparatively simpler and shorter. Though based on the main lesson, these lessons take learner bit away from the main lesson, open up for them a broader world. Both you and your learners need to learn on your own. While the main lesson is more strictly structured and everything is done for you, in case of these lessons you have freedom to frame your own activities and learners can learn on their own. This will assess whether as a teacher you have grown professionally or not, whether you can frame activities on your own or not. Similarly whether your students have developed the language skills or not is also to be assessed. You have to prepare yourself and make tasks for your learners from these sub-lessons under the following heads-

1. Reading aloud if the lesson is a poem.
2. Divide the lesson into SGPs for silent reading.
3. Frame comprehension questions.
4. Have task for VMDT.
5. Prepare tasks on chain-drill / dialogue activities.
6. Prepare tasks for Mental Talk and
7. Writing activities.

It is seen that our teachers do not develop professional skills because the textbooks provide everything for them in cut and dried ready made form and everything centre round the textbook. In contrast, in educationally developed countries, teachers prepare their own materials as often there are no fixed textbooks. Having fixed textbooks in cut and dried form has some advantages but many disadvantages, one of them being teachers not developing professional skills. These follow-up lessons will help you develop your teaching skills as you have to prepare the activities yourself. You have not only to prepare the tasks but often to write these tasks on the blackboard in good handwriting using them as blackboard texts. During inspections, the inspecting officials have been advised to see whether you have designed activities for the follow-up lessons. They have also been instructed to see whether you have got the post-reading tasks done by the students with your correction and feedback.
You have been provided with time schedule for each lesson – about 6 classes for a trailer lesson and about 10 classes for a main lesson and 5-6 classes for follow-ups. But this is not fixed. You have freedom to readjust.

NOTES TO PARENTS

In educationally developed countries parents, tutors and teaching shops do not help learners to learn. But, unfortunately, here they have to help the learners mainly because the schools do not do their jobs properly. If you are helping your child in his/her learning, kindly see that your child mostly learns own his/her own and develops the skills not just mugs up and scores good marks. In our current education there is a wide gap between learners’ marks and skills. They pass with high marks without developing skills. This has increased your responsibility as you have to see that your ward not only scores good marks in examination but also have skills matching the marks she/he scores or else she/he will be unemployable. The employer these days do not believe in certificates and marks and conduct their own test to measure their future employees’ skills to see whether they are employable.

This book is based on learner-centred approach. Learners are to learn on their own with little outside help. Kindly, therefore, see that they are not helped more than what is necessary or else these helps will become interferences, intervening more than helping in your wards learning. We will request you to go through the introduction to this book before helping your child learn English through this book.

NOTES TO GUIDES

You have a role to play in our current education. In case you are helping class V students of Odia medium schools learning English, kindly go through the introduction to the book and the lesson before you teach English to them. This will help both you and your learners. We promise, if you teach English through this book as we want you to teach, both your learners and you yourself will gain.
NOTE TO INSPECTING OFFICIALS

It is comparatively easy to be an administrator and an educationist. But it is difficult to combine both to become an educational administrator. You must have understood how difficult your job is.

If you are to inspect an English class of class V, kindly go through the introduction to the class V textbook and see how the lessons are designed. When you inspect a class, please first know in which phase of teaching a lesson the teacher is. Is s/he in the pre-reading, while-reading or post-reading phase? The learners’ role is different in these three phases of a lesson. Please identify the phase and evaluate the class accordingly. Following a learner-centred approach we have done away with teacher’s reading aloud and then explaining a text. Please see that teachers do not do this rather give learners to read the text and do the activities on their own, the teacher playing the facilitator’s role.

During inspection kindly see the learners’ textbooks – the workbook part of it. See whether the learners have done the activities and the teacher has corrected the scripts with feedback. In the follow-up (sub-lessons) teachers are asked to frame comprehension questions and language activities. Please see whether they have done this. We provide at the end of the book indicators of learning, which will help you judge the quality of teaching.

N.B.-
- Currently the greatest danger to education is cheap helps, particularly through cheap bazaar notes (meaning books) which, by spoon feeding, cripple the learners. We, therefore, request all to avoid these books.

APPENDIX-II
Four Basic Techniques

1. Brainstorming (BS)
We have to frequently use BS Method to activate the brains of our learners. This can be done in many ways. We can write a word, for example 'rain' on the BB and ask our learners to come up with words that relate to the word 'rain' like —storm, umbrella, flood, mud—etc. Similarly we can introduce a topic from the textbooks of students by writing the title on the BB, then use BS to help learners predict the possible contents of the topic. Any writing, be it a paragraph, an essay or a letter can start with BS. In real life we often storm our brain to solve our day to day problems. If we have not done this before, let's make this a part of our present teaching.

2. Visual Memory Development Technique (VMDT)
Those who are endowed with powerful visual memory are found to learn faster. Whatever they see gets visually printed in their minds. In fact each one of us is endowed with visual memory. By closing our eyes, we can mentally see places, even persons, that we had seen long before. Our eyes act as cameras and our brain as computers to store what we see. But unfortunately our students while learning do not use their visual memory to the extent they do in their real life. Thus, the visual memory of our learners can be developed by systematic use of VMDT. Ask students, after they read the text, to take a photograph of the text with their eye cameras. Then close the book and ask them to locate words and phrases in the text (at the top, bottom, left, right, middle of the text). The students can also be trained to use this method on their own. They read a paragraph, take a mental photograph of the paragraph in their eye cameras. Next they cover the page and ask themselves to locate important words from the text by touching the cover with their index fingers. Then they remove the cover and see whether they have rightly located the word. This they can keep on doing till the paragraph gets printed in their brains. Students enjoy VMDT activities very much. Use of the method over a period of time helps learners to memorise contents.

3. Mental Talk (MT)
This is a very good method for learning language, particularly a second language like English. Language is a very complex matter. How humans pick up language so quickly, particularly the small ones do so at homes. Earlier, it was thought that language was mostly learned by speaking. Language is verbal. But current researches have shown that language is more mental than verbal. We learn language so quickly and so fast because most of the time, without being aware, we mentally talk. This mental talk helps us master a language which is so complex.

But the thing is we mentally talk in our mother tongue. But it is possible, with a little conscious effort, to mentally talk in English. Suppose we are going to the market to buy certain things, usually we mentally talk (First I'll go to the medicine shop--------) and plan. But with conscious efforts, we can do this in English. And once our learners begin to do this, learning of English becomes easy on his/her part. This has two benefits: One, in our context, there is little scope to speak in English, which is why we fail to learn English. Second, even when we get the chance to speak English, we hesitate to speak in English for fear of going wrong. Mental talk provides us the scope to use English without fear of going wrong.

Our students can be encouraged to mentally talk in English. We can call them to mentally repeat lines from a poem they have. Our students can be encouraged to mentally talk in English. We can call them to mentally repeat lines from a poem they have read or a dialogue they have practised to start with.

4. Chain-drill

Chain-drill is an utterance of a word, a phrase or a sentence, a line from a text or the title of a story – which the learners of a class repeat one after another in a serial order, usually at the beginning or at the end of a lesson. Students can also be asked to introduce themselves through chain-drills. For example, "I'm _____________. I am from _______________. What about you?" Chain-drill has the advantage of making everyone in a class speak something. Apparently, chain-drills seem boring but in reality it is interesting. When used, many think it is waste of time for many as one has to wait too long to get his/ her chance. But during this time the person waiting for his/her turn, in fact, keeps on mentally repeating what s/he plans to say when his/her turn comes. It is, therefore, not a waste of time as mental repetition helps one learn language and remember things better.

Some Important Tips on Handwriting, Asking Questions and Reading Aloud

Instructions for Good Handwriting:
1. Put your writing paper on a hard plain surface, not on heaps of books, on your lap or on a pillow.
2. Use ink /pencil (well sharpened) dot pen; bad dot pens affect handwriting.
3. Provide margins at the top and left of the sheet of paper you are going to write on.
4. Write in straight line. Ruled paper is more useful for the beginners.
5. Use unjoined printed letters.
6. Always tilt all your letters slightly to the right.
7. Provide proper space between words and lines.
8. Use neither too big nor too small letters.
9. Avoid over-writing.
10. Maintain distinction between your capital and small letters.
    c,k,o,p,s,u,v,w,x,y,z
11. Take care of your problem letters –m,n,u,w, for example. You write the blackboard text on BB, then, move inside the class to help your students to follow these principles of good handwriting. Correct and instruct them where necessary.

Suggestions for Asking Questions during the While-reading stage:
1. Ask right question to the right person.
2. Distribute questions all over the class.
3. Ask question to the whole class-then identify whom you want to answer your question.
4. Never answer questions to yourself-provide clues to help your students to ask you questions.
5. Encourage your students to ask you question.
6. Encourage your students’ question. Ask other students to answer.
7. If one fails to answer your question ask the question to the whole class (You can answer his/her question)
8. Allow your students to answer in words/phrases....don't force them always to answer in full sentence.
9. Allow them to answer in chorus at times so that the shy ones can join with others develop courage to answer individually later.
10. Allow your students to consult the text while answering your questions
11. Allow your students to answer in Odia if it is difficult on their part to answer in English.

Rules of Reading Aloud:
1. Make yourself familiar with the text before you read it in the class.
2. Introduce briefly what you are going to read.
3. Hold the book or paper up in front of you but not blocking your face.
4. Look interested in what you are reading.
5. Your voice should be clear and loud enough to be audible to all the learners. Use correct volume depending on the size and shape of the room, the number of people in it and what you are reading.
6. Don't read too fast. The listeners need time to absorb what is being read to them.
7. It is important to avoid monotony. Raise and lower your voice to show that a different character is speaking a dialogue, or to indicate a change of mood or to introduce a new idea.
8. You can stress important words by increasing the power of your voice or by lowering it.
9. If you make a mistake, don't stop or repeat yourself unless the mistake alters the meaning of the text.
10. If you can, make an eye contact with your listeners by looking up from your text and looking at them. Gauge their reactions with the help of their facial expressions.
11. If you have to turn a page during the reading, have the page you are going to turn ready before you finish the page you are reading.
