Let’s Begin

In the texts ‘The Hundred Dresses-I and II’, Wanda was seen as different by other girls. But in the dresses game she proved her talent and got recognition. We are all unique and we have our strengths. Have you ever met a person who is very different than you, who thinks and enjoys doing things differently? Conduct a survey in the class to find out the different talents that your classmates have and discuss these so as to appreciate each other.

Reading Comprehension

Text I

You have read how Wanda was passionate about her talent and pursued it in spite of so many hurdles. Wangari Mathai, the Nobel Prize winner, is another person who fought a battle to save the environment. She had a humble start but she dreamt big and succeeded.

Read the following passage and answer the questions that follow.

When we said we wanted to plant fifteen million trees, a forester laughed and said we could have as many seedlings as we wanted because he was convinced that we could not plant that many trees. Before too long, he had to withdraw that offer because we were collecting more trees than he could give away free of charge. But we didn’t have the money. We decided that we could produce the seedlings ourselves. We would go and collect seeds from trees, come back and plant them the way women planted other seeds — beans, corn, and other grains. And so the women actually developed forestry management techniques, using “appropriate technology” to fit their needs. Here is the basic method — take a pot, put in the soil, and put in the seeds. Put the pot in an elevated position so that the chickens and the goats don’t come and eat the seedlings.

Ordaining all the inventive techniques that the women developed, for example, sometimes trees produce seeds carried by the wind. These germinate in the fields with the first rain. It was very interesting to see a woman cultivating a field with a small container of water. But, she was cultivating weeds! She had learned that among these weeds were also tree seedlings and that she could pick the seedlings and put them in a container. In the evening, she went home with several hundred seedling trees! These techniques developed by the women became extremely helpful. We planted more than twenty million trees in Kenya alone. In other African countries, we have not kept records.

Trees are alive, so we react to them in very different ways. Quite often, we get attached to a tree, because it gives us food and fodder for our fires. It is such a friendly thing. When you plant a tree and you see it grow, something happens to you. You want to protect it, and you value it. I have seen people really change and look at trees very differently from the way they would in the past. The other thing is that a lot of people do not see that there are no trees until they open their eyes, and realise that the land is naked. They begin to see that while rain can be a blessing, it can also be a curse, because when it comes and you have not protected your soil, it carries the soil away with it. And this is rich soil in which you should be growing your food, then they see the immediate relationship between a person and the environment. It is wonderful to see that transformation, and that is what sustains the movement!

(Source: ‘Speak Truth to Power’ Wangari Mathai)

Q.1. A forester laughs when Wangari Mathai says that they wanted to plant 15 million trees. Why did the forester react in this manner?

_____________________________________________________
_____________________________________________________
_____________________________________________________
Q.2. What role does money play in the given extract?

_____________________________________________________

_____________________________________________________

_____________________________________________________

_____________________________________________________

Q.3. “When you plant a tree and you see it grow, something happens to you.” Explain what do you understand by the above quote.

_____________________________________________________

_____________________________________________________

_____________________________________________________

_____________________________________________________

Q.4. “Rain can be a blessing and a curse.” Analyse how nature can be both a blessing and a curse.

_____________________________________________________

_____________________________________________________

_____________________________________________________

_____________________________________________________

Q.5. “It is wonderful to see that transformation.” What is the ‘transformation’ the author is talking about here?

_____________________________________________________

_____________________________________________________

_____________________________________________________

_____________________________________________________

TEXT II

When people work together they put in their combined efforts to succeed. This idea of collaborative working creates life long bonding for the people. Read the following passage and find out how people in remote areas of Odisha get together to show their gratitude to nature by observing ‘bijun parab’ (beej parba) and strengthen their life cycle.

There will always be a seed for everyone. In the early summer month of April, the forests’ people also depend on the foods

Words

- disinfectant
- ‘Kondh’
- safeguarded
- shooing
harvested earlier on in the year—millets, pulses, tubers, dried fruits, roots and tubers. All these seeds have been safeguarded, some saved to be grown in the next season, while others have been stored to be eaten in months such as these. It is in this month that various ‘Kondh’ communities organise the Bijun Parab or seed festival.

The festival begins with the mud walls of the home painted, the mud and cow dung floors swept and freshened, and, most importantly, the selecting of seeds. Women gather in the courtyard, cleaning the seeds from the husks, chatting with each other, shooing away the children who mill about, witnessing and participating in the seasonal celebration. Saving seeds over all these months and seasons has taken much effort—guarding the seeds from insects, animals and moisture as well as one’s own greed. Each one has a different technique, whether grinding up neem leaves and mixing it with the seeds as an insecticide or layering the seed basket with cow dung as disinfectant. Some women have managed to save more seeds, some just a little and there are some houses where pests and insects managed to get the best of the seeds and these families have not saved any. Nonetheless, everyone participates in this festival.

(Source: ‘There will always be a seed for everyone’ by Aditi Pinto, The Hindu, April 23, 2017)

Q.1. Answer the following questions:

(a) When is the seed festival celebrated in Odisha?

(b) Which are the seeds preserved by the Kondhs?

(c) Why are the seeds preserved?

(d) How do they celebrate the festival?

74  WORDS AND EXPRESSIONS 2 – CLASS X
(e) How are the seeds preserved?

Q.2. Tick the correct answer.
“Nonetheless, everyone participates in the festival”, means—
(a) However, people are invited to participate in the festival (   )
(b) Still, Kondhs who have seeds, participate in the festival (   )
(c) Although some families have not saved the seeds yet they participate in the festival (   )
(d) Anyway, people are asked to participate in the festival (   )

Q.3. How is the seed festival of Odisha a perfect example of community participation? Find words for ‘Bijun Parab’ in your language.

Vocabulary

1. Make ten words (of five or more letters) from the word below.

MANUFACTURES
The meanings of some words are given below which will help you to find out the words.

(a) fright  s  _  _  _  _
(b) artistic words  c  _  _  _  _
(c) fertiliser  _  _  n  _  _  _
(d) not certain  u  _  s  _  _  _

Fun Facts

Common error
It’s accidentally, not accidently.
It’s acclaim, not aclaim.
(e) false __ n __ u __
(f) one’s essential characteristic or temperament n t __ m
(g) a small river s __ m
(h) ways or methods m n __
(i) wooden box c e
(j) border enclosing a picture __ r __ m __

Grammar

1. Read the following sentences and match column A with column B to complete the sentences. Also use appropriate punctuation, if needed.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Column A</th>
<th>Column B</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1. My sister was so scared, she couldn’t watch the drama</td>
<td>1. we can expect rain later on.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2. Although most critics agreed that the theatre performance was his best ever</td>
<td>2. in this one he’s definitely the good guy.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3. On our way back, we thought although snow is now unlikely</td>
<td>3. whereas I didn’t find it frightening at all.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4. On reaching home, my sister wanted me to help her with her science project</td>
<td>4. I was rather disappointed by his performance.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5. Whereas, in most of his other plays he plays the role of a villain</td>
<td>5. but I told her to ask her friend.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

2. Relative Clause

- Taj Mahal, which was built by Shahjahan, is one of the wonders of the world.
- It was Lata Mangeshkar who sang this song.
• Arnabh, whose sister works in television, is a good debater.
• It’s the Internet that gives us a lot of information.

The underlined parts of the sentences are relative clauses. The relative clauses begin with ‘which’, ‘who’, ‘whose’, and ‘that’.

Put in the relative clauses and write the sentences.

Example:
Traffic light suddenly went out of order. It caused a traffic jam.
Traffic light, which suddenly went out of order, caused a traffic jam.

(a) Mary wrote a poem. It bagged the first prize in the creative writing competition.

The poem______________________________________________________

(b) Mr. Goel is seriously ill, so he could not go to office.

Mr. Goel______________________________________________________

(c) Simran gave a dance programme yesterday, and it’s being appreciated by everybody.

The dance programme_________________________________________

(d) You are going to meet Amit tomorrow, he is an active member of our school’s environment club.

You are going to meet Amit tomorrow____________________________

(e) The man is rather strange. He lives next door.

The man_______________________________________________________

(f) Anu’s name was missed off the volleyball players’ list, so he was very unhappy.

Anu__________________________________________________________
1. Some words in the following paragraphs are missing. Choose and insert the words given in the bracket.

(of, around, into, the, and, above, from, to, so, against, its)

They sailed the islands Sumatra and the Andaman Sea, and followed the coastline up from Malaysia, into the waters of Thailand and then the Phang Nga. After days of exploration, island village’s founder, Toh Baboo, stumbled upon Koh Panyi. The island offered excellent protection the elements had plentiful fish, so Toh Baboo raised a flag the island’s summit.

From three original families, the village has expanded become home to 1485 people, all descended from the island’s original settlers. As the number of residents grew, this village on stilts expanded, even getting own school with a playground and a mosque with a gleaming dome and minarets, all floating water.

(Source: ‘A Jewel of the Andaman Sea’ by Neeta Lal, livemint, 16 March, 2019)

2. Choose the punctuation mark that can be used in the blank place in each sentence. The punctuation mark does not include the brackets.

(a) Electricity has two main uses______industrial and domestic.
1 (.) 2 (!) 3 (?) 4 (;) 5 (:)

(b) ‘When Mahua comes,’ she said______‘Anand always goes to meet her.’
1 (.) 2 (,) 3 (?) 4 (;) 5 (:)

TONGUE TWISTER
I wish to wash my Irish wristwatch.
(c) ‘I wonder when will they come______he said.
1. (.) 2 (,) 3 (?) 4 (;) 5 (:)

(d) We decided to have rest_____It was too hot to go any further.
1 (.) 2 (,) 3 (?) 4 (!) 5 (')

LISTENING

1. Ask the teacher or a peer to read aloud the following passage. The passage can be read aloud more than once.

- Notice the theme and style of writing.
- Take down notes while listening. Then using your notes, tell your partner the summary of what you have heard.

My great aunt Doluma had “tasted” a police lathi-charge during the freedom struggle. I knew her as an old woman in a spotless white khadi sari, with cropped grey hair, black-rimmed glasses, her lips stained with paan. Her real name was Dr Phulrenu Guha. After she died, we discovered she had received a doctorate from Sorbonne in 1938. Most of us just knew her as Doluma. I called her mantrithakurma or minister-grandmother because she had once held a post in the Union Government of India.

I won’t pretend she was the cuddly grandma who told us fairy tales. She hopped on and off jeeps even in her 80s and went on the campaign trail in rural Bengal. She was blunt, out spoken and no nonsense.

(Source: ‘Have you had your dose of vitamin’ P. Sandip Roy, livemint, Saturday, 16 March, 2019)
1. Now, talk to your parents, grandparents, and community members. Collect such stories. Choose one personality whom you liked the most and write a passage on the person. Then share it with your classmates. You can use the following words while describing their character.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>gracefulness</th>
<th>compassionate</th>
<th>determination</th>
<th>agility</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>humility</td>
<td>affectionate</td>
<td>sympathetic</td>
<td>fellow</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>feeling</td>
<td>unassuming</td>
<td>generous</td>
<td>amiable</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>impartial</td>
<td>considerate</td>
<td>courageous</td>
<td>rational</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

___________________________________________________________

___________________________________________________________

___________________________________________________________

___________________________________________________________

___________________________________________________________

___________________________________________________________

___________________________________________________________

___________________________________________________________

Writting

1. You notice in your day-to-day life people from different cultures, religions, languages, ethnic groups, etc. India is one such country with lots of diversity and we respect one another. This promotes harmony and peace among people.

Given below are a few illustrations. They belong to different states. Collect information about the cultural diversity of the States/UTs of our country and write it in the box given below.

________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________

2. Write a speech on the topic ‘Treat others the way you would like to be treated by others’. You may take the help of ‘process approach’ to writing given in Unit I.
Project

1. Farmers are a community who work together and share a common thread of living. They are largely dependent on the blessings as well as vagaries of nature.

Today, farmers are facing problems due to many reasons. Work in groups of four and prepare a project on the issues related to the agrarian stress. You can interview farmers in your area to get a true account of their problems and their solutions as well.

You can keep in mind the following reasons—
• Climate change and natural calamities
• Rise in prices of seeds, manure, etc.
• Social marginalisation
• Deprivation of economic benefits
• Low yield
• Government policies
• Debt trap
• Lack of facilities like irrigation, electricity

Share your findings with your classmates, highlighting the important points of your project.