20	The main challenges of Indian Agriculture are as follows: a. Dependence on erratic Monsoon: Irrigation covers only 33 % of the cultivated areas of India. Crop production in rest of the country depends on rainfall. Poor performance of South west Monsoon adversely affects the supply of water for irrigation. On the other hand drought prone areas are meagre and highly unreliable. When some parts of India there is more rain and cause floods in other parts of the country there is drought. b. Low productivity: Another major problem of Indian agriculture is low productivity. Because of high pressure on land the productivity from land is very low. the vast rain fed areas, and the dry land which mainly grow coarse grain , pulses and oilseeds have very low yield. Though high yielding variety seeds have been introduced but only 16% of the area is covered under this.	5x1=5

	c. Constrain of financial support and indebtedness: The inputs of modern agriculture are very expensive. It has become unmanageable for the small and marginal labourer to arrange the finance and so they avail credit from various institutions and money lenders and fall in the trap of indebtedness. d. Lack of Land reforms – another major problem of Indian agriculture was lack of implementation of land reforms and so continuation of iniquitous distribution of cultivable land was detrimental to agricultural development. e. Small farm size: There is large number of marginal and small farmers in the country. More than 60 % of the land holdings are small in size.
