

Chapter 1 Power-sharing

1. What are the different forms of power sharing in modern democracies? Give an example of each of these.

Answer.

There are different forms of power sharing in modern democracies. These are given below:

- a. Horizontal distribution of power - Power is shared among different organs of government, such as the legislature, executive and judiciary. Example - India
- b. Federal division of power - Power can be shared among governments at different levels – a general government for the entire country and governments at the provincial or regional level. Example - India (Union Government & State Government)
- c. Community government - Power may also be shared among different social groups such as the religious and linguistic groups. Example - Belgium
- d. Power-sharing between political parties, pressure groups and movements - Such competition ensures that power does not remain in one hand. In the long run, power is shared among different political parties that represent different ideologies and social groups.

2. State one prudential reason and one moral reason for power sharing with an example from the Indian context.

Answer.

While prudential reasons stress that power-sharing will bring out better outcomes, In India, the power is shared horizontally among various organs of government. Legislature, Executive and Judiciary are responsible to administer India. Reservation is applicable in India where various sections are given benefits over others to avoid conflicts.

Moral reasons emphasise the very act of powersharing as valuable. In India, citizens are conferred with fundamental rights and directive principles of state policies are implied on the government.

3. After reading this chapter, three students drew different conclusions. Which of these do you agree with and why? Give your reasons in about 50 words. Thomman - Power sharing is necessary only in societies which have religious, linguistic or ethnic divisions. Mathayi – Power sharing is suitable only for big countries that have regional divisions. Ouseph – Every society needs some form of power sharing even if it is small or does not have social divisions.

Answer.

Ouseph conclusion is the right one. Every state should have some or the other form of power-sharing. Power-sharing ensures optimum balance between different sections in the society. The chances of conflict lessen and so does the injustice. Hence, power-sharing becomes the value of democracy. Also, power-sharing is a good way to ensure the stability of political order

4. The Mayor of Merchtem, a town near Brussels in Belgium, has defended a ban on speaking French in the town's schools. He said that the ban would help all non-Dutch speakers integrate into this Flemish town. Do you think that this measure is in keeping with the spirit of Belgium's power-sharing arrangements? Give your reasons in about 50 words.

Answer.

The measure of Mayor of Merchtem to ban on French-speaking in the town's schools near Brussels is unfair. It does not keep with Belgium's power-sharing arrangement. Power-sharing helps maintain a balance between different sections of the society, and in Belgium, there is a need to maintain the power-sharing between Dutch and French to avoid civil unrest. Mayor, by banning French will promote tendency of civil unrest. To promote peace among different communities, the Mayor should promote bilingual education system in the town's schools.

5. Read the following passage and pick out any one of the prudential reasons for power sharing offered in this. “We need to give more power to the panchayats to realise the dream of Mahatma Gandhi and the hopes of the makers of our Constitution. Panchayati Raj establishes true democracy. It restores power to the only place where power belongs in a democracy – in the hands of the people. Giving power to Panchayats is also a way to reduce corruption and increase administrative efficiency. When people participate in the planning and implementation of developmental schemes, they would naturally exercise greater control over these schemes. This would eliminate the corrupt middlemen. Thus, Panchayati Raj will strengthen the foundations of our democracy.”

Answer.

The prudential reason in the given passage is - “Giving power to Panchayats is also a way to reduce corruption and increase administrative efficiency.”
