Bhakti Movement in South

The Bhakti Movement originated in the seventh-century in Tamil, South India (now parts of Tamil Nadu and Kerala), and spread northwards. It swept over east and north India from the 15th century onwards reached its peak between the 15th and 17th century CE.

The Alvars and Nayanars of Tamil Nadu

• The Alvars and Nayanars led some of the earliest bhakti movements (c. sixth century).
• Alvars – those who are “immersed” in devotion to Vishnu.
• Nayanars -those who are devotees of Shiva.
• They travelled from place to place singing hymns in Tamil praising their gods.
• The Alvars and Nayanars initiated a movement of protest against the caste system and the dominance of Brahmanas or at least attempted to reform the system. This is supported by the fact that bhaktas or disciples hailed from diverse social backgrounds ranging from Brahmanas to artisans and cultivators and even from castes considered “untouchable”.
• The Nalayira Divya Prabandham (“Four Thousand Sacred Compositions”) – one of the major anthologies of compositions of the 12 Alvars collected and compiled in the 10th Century by Nathamuni.
• Tevaram – a collection of first seven volumes of Tirumurai (Saiva Devotional poetry) contains the work of Tamil poets – Appar, Sambandar, and Sundarar.

Women Devotees of Bhakti Movement

Andal

• Only female Alwar
• Andal saw herself as the beloved of Vishnu; her verses express her devotional love for the deity.
Karaikkal Ammaiyar
