Term 3

PREFACE

The English textbook for standard VII has been prepared following the guidelines given in the National Curriculum Framework, 2005. It has been created to make English language learning, both effective and enjoyable. The aim has been to balance learning the structures and vocabulary of the language, with learning their use, in everyday life.

The activities have been graded carefully to allow a gradual building of language proficiency. The lessons provide effective individual and collaborative learning in pairs and groups and enable differentiation in multilevel classrooms. Each unit focuses on the themes of natural and social world to stimulate curiosity and imagination, engaging both heart and mind. An ICT Corner has been introduced in each unit for the first time in a State Board Text Book to develop current digital literacy skills.

How to use the book

- ◆ The Third Term English Book for Standard VII has two units and one play.
- ◆ Each unit is planned for a month.
- ◆ First two units are divided into sections and the third one is combined as it's a speech. Each section is designed to initiate and sustain the Active Learning process.

Sl. No.	Units	Page No.
1	Prose	Journey by Train
	Poem	Sea Fever
	Supplementary	Divilad - My First Voyage
2	Prose	A Story of Self Sacrifice and Bravery
	Poem	Courage
	Supplementary	Man Overboard
3	Play	Jani Eye

Warm Up

Many people become engineers, doctors, IAS officers, film stars and so on. But few become "Human".

Look at the pictures.

- ◆ The pictorial warm up page will help activate students own knowledge and ideas of the topic.
- ◆ The digital warm up can be used for visualizing the theme to motivate and interest learners.

- ◆ In-Text questions in each section can be used for discussion and to check and develop comprehension skills.
- ◆ Digital glossary can be used to listen to correct pronunciation and visualise words.
- ◆ The 'Do You Know?' box can be used to enhance general knowledge while initiating spoken language.

GLOSSARY

instantaneous	- happening or done immediately
flickered	- shone unsteadily
strive	- make great effort
ingrained	- firmly established and hard to change

- ◆ The illustrations in Picto Grammar will make understanding of grammar easy.
- ◆ Digital Grammar Games can be used to reinforce learning to encourage students to play and learn easily.
- ◆ Language Check Point can highlight points of usage to avoid the common mistakes.

CREATIVE WRITING

1. You are waiting to board a train in a railway station. The train is delayed by an hour. Write a paragraph about the crowded scene in the railway station based on your observation.

vendors	tea vendors	shops	barriers	cases of luggage
porters	travellers	scroll board	announcement	ticket counter queue

- ◆ Students can be taken through all the steps of writing with the help of pictures and prompts.
- ◆ Creative writing can be used to bring out their imaginative skill.
- ◆ Students can be encouraged to present or display their writings in the class.

- ◆ The warm up picture given at the beginning of each section can be used to discuss the theme of the poem.
- ◆ The focus should be on the enjoyment of the poem through exploring imaginary skills & rhythm.
- ◆ The supplementary section encourages extensive reading and appreciation of literature.

Jane : Yes. We will take walks through the fields that surround Thornfield and we will learn about nature, animals and the flowers. We will study all

Look at the picture. Circle the dangerous actions of pedestrians on or near the road. Discuss in groups and write down the Pedestrians Road Safety Rules.

- ◆ Connecting to Self is based on the values of each lesson.
- ◆ Project is meant for working in groups and to develop collaborative learning.
- ◆ The development of higher order thinking skills is facilitated by the Steps to Success.

- ◆ Students can be encouraged to extend their reading activity through learning links section.
- ◆ Students can be helped to download the games and install them.
- ◆ The activities in ICT Corner will ensure learning language skills through websites and app links.

Journey by Train

This extract is taken from the classic adventure novel, Around the World in Eighty Days by Jules Verne. An Englishman, Mr. Phileas Fogg, along with his French attendant, Passepartout, attempts to go round the world in eighty days on a wager of $20,000 (roughly $1.6 million today) set by his friends at the Reform Club.

Read this extract, where Phileas Fogg travels through some parts of India at a time when the railways were being built in the country.

Some places are spelt differently as the book was written over a century ago.

The train had started punctually. Among the passengers were a number of officers, Government officials and merchants. Passepart out rode in the same carriage with Mr.Fogg, and a third passenger occupied a seat opposite to them. This was Sir Francis Cromarty, one of the friends Mr. Fogg made on the ship Mongolia that brought him to Bombay.

An hour after leaving Bombay the train had passed the bridges and the Island of Salcette, and had got into the open country.

During the night the train left the mountains behind, and passed Nassik, and the next day proceeded over the flat, well-cultivated country of the Khandesh, with its straggling villages, above which rose the towers of temples. This fertile territory is watered by many small rivers and clear streams, mostly tributaries of the Godavari.

Passepartout, on waking and looking out, could not believe that he was actually crossing India in a railway train. The locomotive, guided by an English engineer and fed with coal, threw out its smoke upon cotton, coffee, nutmeg, clove, and pepper plantations, while the steam curled in spirals around groups of palm-trees, in the midst of which were seen attractive bungalows, viharas (sort of abandoned monasteries), and marvellous temples decorated by the rich work of Indian architecture. Then they came upon vast areas extending to the horizon, with jungles where snakes and tigers lived. These creatures fled at the noise of the train. Then they came to forests where elephants stood gazing with sad eyes at the train as it passed.

At half-past twelve the train stopped at Burhampoor. The travellers made a hasty breakfast and started off for Assurghur. Now they travelled along the banks of the small river Tapy, which empties into the Gulf of Cambray, near Surat.

Then towards evening the train entered the valleys of the Sutpour Mountains, which separate the Khandeish from Bundelcund. It was three in the morning.

Travelling improves memory and reduces the risk of heart diseases. It makes us more intelligent and happier. This has been proved by scientists.

Give a picturesque view through which the train travels.

GLOSSARY

proceeded	-	moved
fertile territory	-	rich vegetated area
locomotive	-	railway engine
horizon	-	the line at which the earth's surface and the sky appear to meet gazing	-	look steadily
hasty	-	quick

Section II

Take turns and read this section aloud.

The train stopped, at eight o'clock, in the midst of a clearing some fifteen miles beyond Rotherham, where there were several bungalows, and workmen's cabins. The conductor, passing along the carriages, shouted, 'Passengers will get out here!'

Phileas Fogg looked at Sir Francis Cromarty for an explanation; but the general could not tell why there was a halt in the midst of this forest of dates and acacias.

Curious, Passepartout rushed out and speedily returned, crying: 'Monsieur, no more railway!'

'What do you mean?' asked Sir Francis.

'I mean to say that the train isn't going to go any further.'

The general at once stepped out, while Phileas Fogg calmly followed him, and they proceeded together to the conductor.

'Where are we?' asked Sir Francis.

'At the hamlet of Kholby.'

'Do we stop here?'

'Certainly. The railway isn't finished.'

'What! not finished?'

'No. There's still a matter of fifty miles to be laid from here to Allahabad, where the line begins again.'

'But the papers announced the opening of the railway throughout.'

'What can I tell you, officer? The papers were mistaken.'

'Yet you sell tickets from Bombay to Calcutta,' snapped Sir Francis, who was growing angry.

'No doubt,' replied the conductor; 'but the passengers know that they must provide means of transportation for themselves from Kholby to Allahabad.'

Sir Francis was furios. Passepartout would willingly have knocked the conductor down, and did not dare to look at Mr.Fogg.

'Sir Francis,' said Mr. Fogg quietly, 'we will, if you please, look about for some means of transport to Allahabad.'

'Mr. Fogg, this is a delay greatly to your disadvantage.'

'No, Sir Francis; it was foreseen.'

'What! You knew that the way—'

'Not at all; but I knew that some obstacle or other would sooner or later arise on my route. Nothing, therefore, is lost.

I have two days, which I have already gained, to sacrifice. A steamer leaves Calcutta for Hong Kong at noon, on the 25th. This is the 22nd, and we shall reach Calcutta in time.'

Agra is one of the most visited destinations in India. The main reason is the Taj Mahal. Agra also has other attractions, like the Agra Fort, the Sikandra Fort, Akbar's tomb and many other tourist spots.

Discuss and answer.

1. Why did the train stop in the middle of the forest?
2. Why was Sir Francis angry?

GLOSSARY

halt	-	stop
acacia	-	a thorny tree
snapped	-	became angry
furios	-	extremely angry
foreseen	-	predicted
obstacle	-	difficulty

Section III

Mr. Fogg and Sir Francis Cromarty, after searching the village from end to end, came back without having found anything.

'I shall go on foot,' said Phileas Fogg.

Passepartout, who had now rejoined his master, made an unhappy face, as he thought of his magnificent Indian shoes. Happily he too had been looking about him, and, after a moment's hesitation, said, 'Monsieur, I think I have found a means of conveyance.'

'What?'

'An elephant! An elephant that belongs to an Indian who lives but a hundred steps from here.'

Kiouni—this was the name of the animal—could doubtless travel rapidly for a long time, and, in the absence of any other means of transport, Mr. Fogg resolved to hire him.

When therefore Mr. Fogg proposed this to the elephant's owner, he refused point-blank. Mr. Fogg persisted, offering the excessive sum of ten pounds an hour for the loan of the animal to Allahabad. Refused. Twenty pounds? Refused also. Forty pounds? Still refused.

Phileas Fogg, without getting in the least flurried, then proposed to purchase the animal outright, and at first offered a thousand pounds for him. The owner, perhaps thinking he was going to make a great bargain, still refused.

Mr. Fogg offered first twelve hundred, then fifteen hundred, eighteen hundred, two thousand pounds. Passepartout was fairly white with suspense. At two thousand pounds the man yielded.

'Good heavens, what a price for an elephant!' cried Passepartout.

A young man, with an intelligent face, offered his services as a guide, which Mr. Fogg accepted, promising so generous a reward as to greatly increased his zeal. The elephant was led out and equipped.

The man, who was a skilled elephant driver, covered the elephant's back with a sort of saddle-cloth, and attached to each of its sides some uncomfortable howdahs. Phileas Fogg paid the elephant owner with some banknotes which he extracted from the famous carpet-bag, an action that made poor Passepartout lose his breath.

While Sir Francis and Mr. Fogg took the howdahs on either side, Passepartout got onto the saddle-cloth between them. The driver perched himself on the elephant's neck, and at nine o'clock they set out from the village, the animal marching off through the dense forest of palms by the short cuts.

Jules Verne

Discuss and answer.

1. Which mode of transport did Fogg choose?
2. Did he hire Kiouni? Why?
3. Why was the elephant owner happy with the deal?

GLOSSARY

hesitation	-	unwilling
conveyance		transportation
rapidly	-	quickly
persisted	-	continued
refused	-	not willing

I must go down to the seas again, to the lonely sea and the sky,
And all I ask is a tall ship and a star to steer her by;
And the wheel's kick and the wind's song and the white sail's shaking,
And a grey mist on the sea's face, and a grey dawn breaking.

I must go down to the seas again, for the call of the running tide
Is a wild call and a clear call that may not be denied;

And all I ask is a windy day with the white clouds flying,
And the flung spray and the blown spume, and the sea-gulls crying.
I must go down to the seas again, to the vagrant gypsy life,
To the gull's way and the whale's way where the wind's like a whetted knife;
And all I ask is a merry yarn from a laughing fellow-rover,
And quiet sleep and a sweet dream when the long trick's over.

Sinbad – My First Voyage

Supplementary

Sinbad the Sailor is a fictional mariner and the hero of a story-cycle of Middle Eastern origin. He is described as a man from Baghdad during the early Abbasid Caliphate (8th and 9th centuries CE). In the course of seven voyages throughout the seas east of Africa and south of Asia, he has fantastic adventures in magical realms, encountering monsters and witnessing supernatural phenomena.

In this extract, the rich Sinbad describes his first voyage to the poor Sinbad (porter).

My father was a rich merchant. When he died, I was still young. He left behind a big wealth. However, I was an inexperienced thoughtless youth and spent all his wealth foolishly.

I returned to my senses only after the loss of all the wealth. I decided to sail for the Persian Gulf with some goods. Our group sailed from one country to another, selling the goods. One day, when we were on board, we saw a beautiful small green island. Just to have some fun, we all got down on that green patch. We were hungry and so we decided to cook some food there. As soon as we lit the fire for cooking, we got a jerk. The island was trembling. It was no island. It was the back of a huge animal, which got disturbed when the fire was lit on his back. We were terrified when we realized this. Everyone jumped into the sea to save his life. Most of them boarded the ship. But a few were not so fortunate. Before they could climb up, the captain started the ship hurriedly leaving behind a few sailors who were still struggling in the sea for their life. I was one among those strugglers. Fortunately, I caught hold of a big piece of wood floating nearby and held on to it.

I was being tossed by the powerful sea waves but I held on to the wood and kept floating for a long time. At last, I was thrown on an island. I was very tired and extremely hungry. But on the island, there was nothing to eat except a few herbs. Due to the continuous struggle in the seawater, my limbs became stiff and refused to move. I somehow managed to crawl to get a few herbs. I ate them and quenched my thirst from a spring on the island.

As I walked further in this strange land, I met a man. The man asked me where I had come from and who I was. I poured out my misfortune to him. The man felt pity when he heard my sad story. He took me inside a cave. There were a number of men present.

They were all slaves of the king of the island. Those men were kind. They served me good food and drink and treated me well.

Later on, they produced me in front of the king, Mihrjan, who was the ruler of the island. I narrated my tale of suffering and hardship to the king. The king was a noble and kind person. He sympathized with me and appointed me as an officer on the spot.

Soon, I became friendly with the people on the island. There were a number of other small islands nearby. These islands were under King Mihrjan, too. During my stay, I witnessed a number of remarkable sights. The seawater around the islands contained huge and terrible fishes. A few were hundred times bigger than the largest ship. Once I saw a fish that had a head like a bull. I witnessed many unimaginable wonders.

Ships from different parts of the world visited this small island kingdom's port regularly. Every day I would ask the visiting sailors about my city Baghdad, but no one knew about my city. I longed to go back home.

One day, when I was standing on the port, I saw a ship approaching the port. It was the same ship, which had sailed further after leaving me behind, struggling in the sea. When the captain of the ship saw me, he was greatly surprised to find me alive. He and the other crew members hugged me with happiness. The captain handed over my goods to me, which had been left on the ship.

Among my goods, I chose a few valuable items and presented those to the kind king. In return, the king also gave me expensive presents. The ship stayed on the island for a few days. Meanwhile, I did good business and earned a lot of money.

When it was time to leave, I went to meet the king. I thanked the king for his kindnesses and all the favours he had done to me. The king again gave me many valuable farewell gifts. Finally I returned to my city Baghdad as a rich man.

Sinbad completed the tale of his first voyage. The poor porter Sinbad was listening to the amazing tale of Sinbad with all wonder. Sinbad the sailor then bade good bye to the poor porter and asked him to come the next day to hear the tale of his new voyage. But before leaving, he presented Sinbad a purse full of gold coins. The unexpected riches overjoyed Sinbad the porter. He thanked his rich host and went home.

Pan Am Flight 73

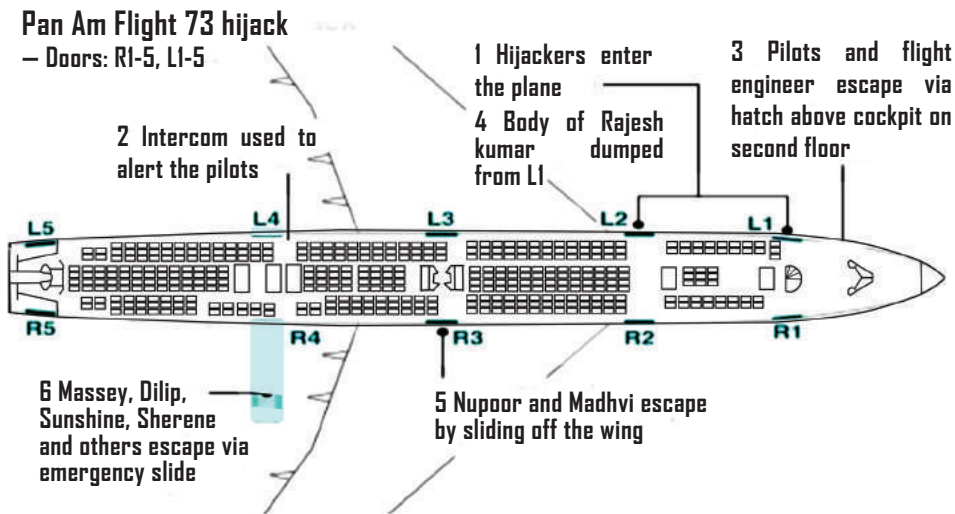

It was the morning of September 5, 1986. The aircraft, Pan Am Flight 73 with 360 passengers on board, had just arrived from Mumbai and was ready to depart from Jinnah International Airport in Karachi for its destination — the United States. Unfortunately, the flight was hijacked by four heavily armed terrorists while it was parked at Karachi airport.

The passengers on the plane hailed from different countries — there were Indians, Germans, Americans, and Pakistanis, among others. The terrorists were more intent on targeting the Americans. When Neerja was told to collect the passports of the passengers, Neerja managed to hide their passports and discard them down the rubbish chute. With her help at least 39 American passengers were saved out of 41. The hijackers wanted to fly to Israel and crash the plane against a building. On being confronted with this unexpected calamity, Neerja immediately sprang into action. She attempted first and foremost, to alert the pilots in the cockpit of the hijacked plane so that they could save themselves. When the terrorists saw that, they assaulted her. She then passed on the warning in a code, which alerted the pilots. As per the mandate, they made an escape through the alternate exit so that the terrorists were at a loss of pilots who could be forced to fly the plane to the terrorists' desired location.

"I will die, but not run away"— this is what a young Neerja told her mother when they had discussed the sensitive situation of a hypothetical hijack. Her brother Aneesh Bhanot recalls how one day her mother had picked this topic and told Neerja that she must save herself in case a hijack ever took place on a Pan Am flight — the airlines that Neerja was working for. To this, Neerja had asked her mother to never think this way again, for she was determined to not be a coward in such a situation; and she lived up to her word.

The nightmare on the aircraft continued for long. The frustration and helplessness of the terrorists grew every hour and their patience was running out. Seventeen hours into the hijack, the plane ran out of power. The terrorists lost their cool and opened fire on the passengers. Armed with grenades, plastic explosive belts, and pistols, the terrorists raised hell on board. Taking advantage of the chaos and the terrorists' senselessness, Neerja leapt into action at this point of time. She shed all her hesitation and fears and worked her way around evacuating as many passengers as she could. She could have run away for she knew the escape routes well, but she didn't. She waited selflessly in the face of death to help the ones around her.

As she was about to exit herself, she noticed three children who were left in the flight. They needed her help in escaping. As the brave-heart rescued the kids, she was hit by the bullets fired by one of the terrorists. The wounds inflicted were fatal, and Neerja eventually succumbed to them. By a cruel twist of fate, this heroic young girl passed away.

Discuss and Answer.

1. How did Neerja save the Americans?
2. Why did Neerja alert the pilots?
3. What happened when the terrorists lost their patience?

Neerja Bhanhot – Life

Neerja Bhanot was born on 7 September 1963, in Chandigarh, Punjab, India, to Rama Bhanot and Harish Bhanot, a Mumbai-based journalist. She was the couple's third child, a much longed-for daughter after two sons, Akhil and Aneesh.

Neerja attended Chandigarh's Sacred Heart School till she was in the 6th standard, after which her family moved to Mumbai. There she attended Bombay Scottish School and went on to graduate from St. Xavier's College.

Even though Neerja's career had taken off, her family decided to get her married to a man in Sharjah, UAE. By March 1985, Neerja was married. This is where her life took a turn for the worse. The marriage proved to be a disaster. After two months, she left her husband at the age of 22, due to pressurizing dowry demands. But this woman refused to surrender to the society because she was born with the spirit to fight. Despite a sour marriage, she started her career in modelling and made appearances in various advertisements like Binaca toothpaste etc.

She then applied for a flight attendant's job with Pan Am, the principal and largest international air carrier in the United States at that time. Only 80 of the 10,000 applicants were picked, and Neerja was one of them. She was sent to Miami to train for 6—8 weeks, and within a year, based on performance and peer review, she was sent to London to train to be a purser – the senior most cabin manager. Pursers worked as managers on flights, handling passenger complaints, making required announcements and handling security. She was soon made a senior flight purser with the airways — a big career achievement for a young woman of 22.

Discuss and Answer

1. Name the schools and colleges Neerja studied in.
2. Why was Neerja sent to London?
3. What is the duty of a purser?

GLOSSARY

disaster	-	a sudden misfortune, catastrophe
pressurizing	-	persuading or forcing someone into doing something performance	-	doing something to a specified standard
achievement	-	attainment, success

Awards, Achievements and Legacy

“Her loyalties to the passengers of the aircraft in distress will forever be a lasting tribute to the finest qualities of the human spirit.”— Ashok Chakra citation

Neerja’s act of bravery was acknowledged and rewarded by the Indian, Pakistan and American governments. She was awarded the Ashok Chakra, India’s highest honour for bravery in peacetime and she became the youngest civilian to receive it. A postage stamp was also issued in her honour in 2004.

In 2005, her brother went to Washington DC to receive the 'Justice for Crimes Award' awarded posthumously to her as part of the 'Annual Crime Rights Week'. She also received the Tamgha-e-Insaniyat award.

Her parents set up the Neerja Bhanot Pan Am Trust with insurance money and funds from Pan Am for using the brand Pan Am in the title. The trust presents two awards every year, one to honour a flight crew member, worldwide, who acts beyond the call of duty and another to an Indian woman who overcomes social injustice and helps other women in similar social distress. The award includes a sum of INR 1,50,000, a trophy and a citation.

One of the children who this brave flight purser saved during a hijacking incident in 1986 is now a captain of a major airline.

Some people shine even after death and she was among them. Even the streets of Mumbai couldn't forget her. A square in Mumbai's Ghatkopar (East) suburb was named after her by the Mumbai Municipal Corporation.

Discuss and Answer.

1. Why was Neerja awarded the Ashok Chakra?
2. How was Neerja honoured by various governments?
3. What are the selection criteria for the Neerja Bhanot Pan Am Award?

GLOSSARY

civilian	-	a person not in the armed services or police force
posthumously	-	after the death of the person crew	-	a group of people who work on a ship, aircraft or train injustice	-	lack of justice, unfairness

The "black box" is made up of two separate pieces of equipment: the flight data recorder (FDR) and a cockpit voice recorder (CVR). They are compulsory on any commercial flight or corporate jet, and are usually kept in the tail of an aircraft, where they are more likely to survive a crash. FDRs record things like airspeed, altitude, vertical acceleration and fuel flow. Early versions used wire string to encode the data; these days they use solid-state memory boards. Solid-state recorders in large aircraft can track more than 700 parameters.

What Others Say

"Neerja was a very sensitive, deeply affectionate and an extremely decent person who believed in sharing with her people all her joys but not the jolts. She had well defined principles and there was little room for compromise in that area."

Harish Bhanot, Neerja's
Father

Dr Kishore Murthy, a passenger on the flight said, "She was at the entrance of the aircraft when the terrorists boarded. She could have escaped like the pilots did, but she didn't do it. That shows her guts and inner strength. She was truly a great leader."

Eliza Lewis, another classmate spoke about how Neerja was always brave. "If she had not done anything wrong, she would never cower when the teachers got angry. She would speak her mind, tell them the truth," she said about Neerja.

Virinda Kirloskar, Neerja's classmate from Bombay Scottish, told The Indian Express, "She was a loyal friend. Even if we had a disagreement, she would always be the first one to reach out."

Rukshana Eisa, Neerja's roommate during the Pan Am training said, "This was not a job meant for dumb blondes. We worked hard."

Think and Answer

1. According to Neerja's father, Neerja had well defined principles and there was little room for compromise in that area. Do you have any principles where you don't want to compromise?
2. Virinda told the Indian Express that Neerja was a loyal friend. Are you always loyal to your friend?
3. Neerja would speak her mind, tell them the truth, according to one of her classmate Eliza. Do you always have the courage to stand for truth?

2 Courage Poem

Look at the Face It chart. Discuss in small groups and tell how to face those situations.

Warm Up

FACE IT!

Courage isn't a brilliant dash,
A daring deed in a moment's flash;
It isn't an instantaneous thing
Born of despair with a sudden spring
It isn't a creature of flickered hope
Or the final tug at a slipping rope;
But it's something deep in the soul of man
That is working always to serve some plan.

Courage isn't the last resort
In the work of life or the game of sport;
It isn't a thing that a man can call
At some future time when he's apt to fall;
If he hasn't it now, he will have it not
When the strain is great and the pace is hot.
For who would strive for a distant goal
Must always have courage within his soul.

Courage isn't a dazzling light
That flashes and passes away from sight;
It's a slow, unwavering, ingrained trait
With the patience to work and the strength to wait.
It's part of a man when his skies are blue,
It's part of him when he has work to do.
The brave man never is freed of it.
He has it when there is no need of it.

Courage was never designed for show;
It isn't a thing that can come and go;
It's written in victory and defeat
And every trial a man may meet.
It's part of his hours, his days and his years,
Back of his smiles and behind his tears.
Courage is more than a daring deed:
It's the breath of life and a strong man's creed.

Man Overboard

Supplementary

I stood on the deck of S.S. Rajula. As she slowly moved out of Madras harbour, I waved to my grandparents till I could see them no more. I was thrilled to be on board a ship. It was a new experience for me.

"Are you travelling alone?" asked the person standing next to me.

"Yes, Uncle, I'm going back to my parents in Singapore," I replied.

"What's your name?" he asked.

"Vasantha," I replied.

I spent the day exploring the ship. It looked just like a big house. There were furnished rooms, a swimming pool, a room for indoor games, and a library. Yet, there was plenty of room to move around.

The next morning the passengers were seated in the dining hall, having breakfast. The loudspeaker spluttered noisily and then the captain's voice came loud and clear. "Friends we have just received a message that a storm is brewing in the Indian Ocean. I request all of you to keep calm. Do not panic. Those who are inclined to seasickness may please stay in their cabins. Thank you."

There was panic everywhere. An old lady prayed aloud, "Oh God! Have mercy on us. My only son is waiting for me in Singapore."

A gentleman consoled her, "Don't worry, Madam, it's only a warning. We may not be affected at all."

Another lady, who was sitting beside me, looked very ill. "Not rough weather! I'm already seasick. A rough sea will be the end of me!"

I could not understand why all the elders were so upset. I remembered the several sea adventures I had read about. Excitedly, I turned to the elderly gentleman sitting next to me. "Uncle, won't it be thrilling to face a storm on board a steamer? Have you ever been on a ship during a storm?"

"It can be quite unpleasant, you know," he replied rather severely. "I remember a time when the ship on which I was travelling ran off course. We were wandering on the ocean for a couple of days."

I remembered my class teacher, an English woman, telling us in class one day, "When I crossed the English Channel on my way to Singapore, there was a big storm near Gibraltar. The ship rocked to and fro. Everything in the cabins rolled up and down. Even the heavy pianos in the lounge went crashing against the walls."

This made my imagination run wild. Turning to Uncle again, I said, "Wouldn't it be fun if the storm broke when we have lunch? Then the tables, with all the food on them, would run away from us. And the chairs, with us sitting on them, would be a merry-go-round."

Everyone round the table stared at me in horror. I thought to myself, 'Oh, these adults, they've no sense of adventure. How dull they are!'

The storm didn't break, but in the evening a strong wind started blowing. The ship rocked to and fro, rocking and rolling to the music of the wind. Huge waves were dashing against it. Even though the deck was slippery, I was running around. That's when I noticed Uncle leaning over the railings. I ran up to him, thinking he too, was enjoying the experience. "Good morning, Uncle, isn't it lovely?" I asked him.

But he wasn't well at all. He was retching over the rails and looked rather blue about the mouth. I felt sorry for him. "Can I be of any help? Shall I call the doctor?" I asked him.

He couldn't reply, but only held up his hand. As another bout of retching shook him he leaned over the railings. At the same time a huge wave lashed the ship. It lurched violently and the man tumbled over the railings into the wild sea. For a second I stood rooted to the spot. Then I ran like someone possessed, shouting, "Help! Help! Man overboard! Save him!" I must have made a lot of noise. I heard footsteps hurrying even that early in the morning.

Tears streaming down my face and shouting incoherently, I ran full pelt into an officer.

"What's the matter? Why are you making so much noise?" he asked in a stern voice. I was surprised to see it was the captain.

"Oh Sir!" I blurted out in relief. "A man fell into the sea. Please save him."

"Where?" he asked, immediately on the alert. "There," I said pointing a finger.

He did not wait for more details but ran at once to a room full of officers. "Man overboard," he cried. "Stop ship. Drop anchor. Quick!" His instructions were immediately obeyed. The captain then raced to the upper deck. I kept trailing behind him. "Lower the life-boats and crew into the sea towards the helm," he said. "There is a man overboard." Here again the men quickly obeyed him.

People started crowding the deck. "What's happening?" somebody asked me.

Word soon went round. Everyone was tense. Only an occasional, "There he is!" could be heard.

Someone asked, "Who is he?"

Another replied, "Don't know."

Meanwhile two life-boats moved towards the man. I stood close to the captain. In his anxiety, he gripped my shoulder tightly and I winced.

“You’re hurting me Sir,” I protested.

“I am sorry, my dear. The sea is very rough today. I hope my men can reach him in time. My ship has never lost a passenger before,” he said crossing himself. He was watching the rescue operations through a pair of binoculars that hung round his neck.

The boat was too far for me to see what was happening. I tugged at the Captain’s sleeve. “What are they doing, Sir? Have they rescued the man?” I asked him.

“They’ve caught him by the arms and are pulling him towards the boat.” He was giving me a running commentary. “Oh what bad luck! A sudden current has swept the man away dragging two of the sailors with him.” He sounded nervous. Just then he noticed the passengers crowding against the railings. “Keep away from those railings!” he shouted. “We don’t want another accident.” The ship had dropped anchor but was heaving up and down.

I borrowed the captain’s binoculars. Now I could see the rescue operation clearly. The crew in the rescue boats threw a strong rope to the two sailors in the sea and shouted, “Catch”. Both of them were good swimmers and soon had caught hold of the rope. Then, with powerful strokes, they swam towards Uncle. One of them caught hold of him, while the other tied the rope round his waist. With Uncle between them and the rope secure, the sailors swam back to the life-boats. The rescue team in the boats leaned over and heaved the three men into it. In a jiffy the boats were heading back to the ship.

“Thank God!” muttered the captain making the sign of the cross again, “they’ve managed to save him.” He turned to the passengers thronging the railings. “Please do not crowd round the man when he is brought up. He will need immediate medical care.” Then he saw the ship’s doctor standing with a couple of nurses. A stretcher was also being brought close to the railings.

“Doctor! Is everything ready for the patient?” the captain asked.

“Aye, aye, Captain,” nodded the doctor.

The captain moved away to restore order on the ship. I edged close to the doctor and asked, “What will you do to him, doctor? Will he be all right?”

“Aye, I think so. All the water will have to be pumped out of him. He’ll have to be given artificial respiration and kept warm.”

“How do you pump the water out?” I asked. “We put him on his stomach and massage him until he brings it all up,” he replied.

As soon as the rescue team reached the ship, Uncle was placed on the stretcher and rushed to the hospital room. The captain then came to me and said, “Run along now and play with your friends. I’m busy, but will send for you when I’m through. I might even have a surprise for you.”

When he turned away, I quietly sneaked into the hospital room to see what they were doing to the patient. Two nurses were scurrying to and fro with trays full of medicines and syringes. Another was rushing off with Uncle’s wet clothes. I stopped her and asked if Uncle was conscious. “Not yet,” she replied, “but he’s better now. He should regain consciousness in a little while.”

The ship was still rolling, so I couldn’t play any games. I went and sat in a cosy chair in the lounge and started reading a story book. I was feeling drowsy and must have dozed off. The next thing I knew was somebody saying, “Wake up, child. You’re Vasantha, aren’t you? The Captain wants to see you in his cabin.”

I looked up to see a sailor standing before me. It took me a minute to recollect the rescue operation and the captain telling me, “I’ll call you afterwards.”

I followed the officer eagerly. He left me outside the captain’s door, saying, “Go right inside.”

I knocked and entered. The captain was standing in the middle of the room. When he saw me, he came forward and literally swept me off my feet. He was still smiling when he put me down.

“You will have plenty to tell your friends, eh? Now close your eyes.”

I did so. Seconds later, I heard him say, "See what I've got for you."

On opening my eyes, I saw a big brown box. On it was written:

"WITH THE BEST COMPLIMENTS OF CAPT. LINDSAY."

I took the box and eagerly opened it. "Oh, what a lovely ship!" I exclaimed. "Does this really belong to me? Can I keep it?"

Lying snugly on a velvet backing was a most beautiful model of the ship. On it was inscribed "B.I.S.N. & Co. S.S. RAJULA." I placed the box carefully on the table. Then I threw my hands round the captain and hugged and kissed him.

He patted my cheek and smiled as he saw me lift the box and walk happily out of his room. I proudly showed my present to everyone I met. "See what the Captain has given me. Isn't it lovely?"

"Yes, indeed," was the unanimous verdict.

I was the happiest person on board that day.

CONNECTING TO SELF

D. Read the incidents. Work in small groups to role play the situations in which they showed their presence of mind. Each group should perform the skit for the rest of the class. Share similar situations in the class.

MUMBAI: A brave 10-year-old girl applied her school lessons and saved 16 lives even as the fire at Crystal Towers in the Parel area of Central Mumbai killed four and injured another 16 people on Wednesday.

Zen Sadavarte, who is a class 3 student, was sleeping when her mother spotted the smoke at around 8 am. Zen was trapped on the 12th floor of the 16 storied-building where the fire had started. However, without getting deterred Zen showed presence of mind and applied the safety tips taught to her in school to save the lives of her family members and neighbours.

Upon spotting fire, as everybody rushed out for safety, an asthmatic girl was feeling breathless. Upon hearing her mother cry, Zen quickly took pieces of cloth from her house, wet them and urged her family and neighbours to cover their noses with them and breathe through it.

PUDHUCHERY: When at first C. Vijaykumar saw his son, V.N.C. Revin, running towards the security guard at the Jipmer auditorium, he did not know what had happened.

The two were walking in the institute's campus last November when the incident occurred. On catching up, Mr. Vijaykumar understood that his son had spotted an electrical equipment sparking due to short circuit, and had gone up to the guard to inform him. Young Revin took his father's phone and immediately dialled 101 to alert the fire brigade.

With his presence of mind, the boy was able to avert a major fire accident, and for this, he was awarded a bravery award by Chief Minister N. Rangasamy at the Independence Day celebrations last week.

Every child has a right to an education, a life free from poverty and protection from abuse.

Discuss in pairs and answer

1. What are the basic human rights?
2. What is education?
3. Why do we need education?

Think and Answer

1. How would life be on this planet if some of the human rights are excluded?
2. Are there any rights you would still like to add to the human rights list?

At Gateshead

[Jane Eyre is ten years old. Both her parents are dead. She lives with her aunt, Mrs. Reed, and three cousins, Eliza, John and Georgiana. Bessie is the servant maid.]

Bessie : Miss. Jane, keep out of mischiefs today. Mrs. Reed is in a frightful mood at breakfast this morning.

Jane : Oh, she never takes notice of me anymore. I think she hides in the sitting room if she hears me coming down the stairs.

Bessie : I am speaking of Miss. Georgiana and Eliza. No quarrelling with those two or you will have the whole house in uproar.

Jane : Oh, it's not me who starts it. I'll hide myself in the library with Uncle Reed's book.

[Jane sits on the floor and looks through a picture book. John, Georgiana and Eliza come.]

John : Here she is.

Jane : What do you want?

John : How dare to ask me, what do you want? Come here when I call you.

Eliza : What are you reading now?

Jane : Bewicks's History of British Birds.

John : Show me.

Eliza : It's one of father's books. You know, not one of these books belongs to you.

John : Bring it to me here.

[Jane rises and cautiously goes to John.]

John : You have no business to take our books. You are a dependant. You have no money. Your father left you none. You ought to beg not to live here with gentlemen's children like us. Go, stand by the door there, out of the way of the mirror and the windows.

[Jane moves a few steps away, John throws the book at her. John runs towards Jane and grasps her hair and shoulder. He hits her with something. One or two drops of blood from her head trickle down her neck. Eliza screams. Bessie and Mrs. Reed come.]

Bessie : Dear! Dear! What fury to fly at Master. John like this!

Mrs. Reed : Frightful child! Take her away in the red room and lock her in there!

Bessie : But, Mrs. Reed...

Mrs. Reed : The red room! Do as I say.

Bessie : Didn't I say.

Jane : He threw the book at me.

Bessie : Come quickly. What shocking behaviour for a young girl!

[Bessie brings Jane to the red room and leaves her there. Jane collapses to the floor and cries. She hears some noise and screams.]

Jane : Bessie! Let me out. Please, let me out. Help me, Bessie. [Mrs. Reed and Bessie appear out in the hall.]

Mrs. Reed : What is the horrible child up to now?

Bessie : Miss. Jane, are you alright?

Jane : Let me out. Please, Bessie.

Bessie : Are you hurt? What is the matter?

Jane : I heard something. Please unlock the door.

Mrs. Reed : Stop this screaming. I will not be taken in by your tricks, Jane. I shall let you out in the morning.

[Jane is left in the room. When she wakes up, Bessie is sitting next to her. Jane is confused.]

Jane : Where...? Bessie...?

- Bessie : It's Bessie, Jane. You have been asleep ever so long. It's nearly dinner time.
- Jane : Am I ill? I feel so ill.
- Bessie : Doctor has been and gone. He says, it's fever.
- Jane : Am I going to die?
- Bessie : No, child. You will be alright within a week. You fell sick in the red room with crying, I suppose.
- Jane : It was not crying, Bessie. I heard some noise. I saw something.
- Bessie : Don't upset yourself again. Now you need to rest.
- Jane : It was Uncle Reed.
- Bessie : Shhhhh... No more talking. Close your eyes. I will stay with you.
- Jane : I shall never forget it. [Jane falls asleep]
- Bessie : Poor child. I do believe it.

[After this incident, Mrs. Reed writes a letter to Mr. Brocklehurst who is running a school, Lowood. He visits Gateshead. Jane is sent to Lowood with him.]

At Lowood

[The driver wakes up Jane. She is let off at the gates of Lowood. She meets Miss. Miller and Miss. Temple.]

- Miss. Miller : Jane Eyre?
- Jane : Yes madam.
- Miss. Miller : This way. [They cross the stage where Miss. Temple is waiting.]
- [Jane enters a dark stone building. All are quiet. She neither sees or hears any other student.]
- Miss. Temple : This child is very young to be sent alone. She had better be put to bed soon. She looks tired. Are you tired?
- Jane : A little madam.
- Miss. Temple : And hungry too, no doubt. Let her have some supper before she goes to bed, Miss. Miller.[To Jane] Is this the first time you have left your parents to come to school, my little girl?
- Jane : My parents are dead.
- Miss. Temple : Oh, I see. Can you read and write?
- Jane : Yes madam.

Miss. Temple : And sew? Do you sew?

Jane : A little.

Miss. Temple : [Touches her cheeks gently] I hope you shall be a good girl, Jane Eyre.

Jane : Yes madam.

[Miss. Miller and Jane exit. The next day, Miss. Miller and Jane enter a wide long room. There are many girls of age ten to twenty. All are uniformly dressed. The room is noisy.]

Miss. Miller : Silence. [The girls quieten immediately.] Go to the wash. [When the girls get there, they hesitate.] What is the matter? Time to wash.

Girl : Miss. Miller.

Miss. Miller : What is it?

Girl : The water is frozen again.

Miss. Miller : Very well, monitors. Remove the basins.

[Miss. Temple enters.]

Miss Miller : The new girl. Where shall I put her Miss. Temple?

Miss. Temple : Perhaps the fourth form.

Miss. Miller : But she is so little.

Miss. Temple : She can read and write. I think she will do well there.

Miss. Miller : Yes, Miss. Temple.

[Jane is put in form four. After lunch, Miss. Miller asks the girls to go to the garden. Miss. Miller and Miss. Temple exit and Helen enters, sits and reads a book.]

Jane : Is your book interesting?

Helen : I like it. [Hands it to her.] You may look at it.

Jane : [Jane looks at the book.] I think it is too difficult for me. [Returns it.]

Helen : You read one of your age.

Jane : My name is Jane Eyre. What is your name?

Helen : Helen Burns.

Jane : Can you tell me, what the writing on the stone over the door means? What is Lowood Institution?

Helen : This house where you have come to live.

Jane : And why do they call it institution? Is it anyway different from other schools?

Helen : It is partly a charity school. You and I, and all the rest of us are charity children. I suppose you are an orphan. Aren't either your father or your mother dead?

Jane : Both died before I can remember.

Helen : Well, all the girls here have lost either one or both parents. This is called an institution for educating orphans.

Jane : Are you happy here?

Helen : You ask rather too many questions. I have given you answers enough for the present. Now I want to read. [Jane leaves Helen.]

[Spring has started. Semi-starvation and neglected colds had predisposed most of the students to receive infection. Forty five out of the eighty girls lay ill at one time. Helen is also ill. Jane goes to meet Helen in Miss. Temple's room.]

Jane : Helen, are you awake?

Helen : [Face is pale but composed.] Why have you come here, Jane? It is past 11 O' clock.

Jane : I have come to see you Helen. I have heard you are ill and I cannot sleep until I speak to you.

Helen : You have come to bid me good-bye. You are just in time probably.

Jane : Are you going home?

Helen : Yes, to my long home – last home.

- Jane : No! No! Helen! But where are you going Helen? Do you know?
- Helen : I believe, I have faith. I am going to God. How comfortable I am. The cough has tired me. I feel as if I could sleep.
- Jane : Good night, Helen.
- Helen : Good night, Jane.

[Helen dies that night. The school improves. Jane spends eight years in the school, six years as pupil and two years as teacher. Jane wants liberty and becomes half desperate. She advertises in 'The Herald' for situations. A week later, she has received a letter from Mrs. Fairfax, Thornfield. Jane leaves Lowood and goes to Thornfield.]

At Thornfield

- Mrs. Fairfax : How do you do, my dear? I am afraid you have had a tedious ride. You must be cold. Come to the fire. Do sit down.
- Jane : Thank you madam. Don't trouble yourself much.
- Mrs. Fairfax : Oh, it's no trouble. You have brought your luggage with you, haven't you, my dear?
- Jane : Yes madam. Shall I have the pleasure of seeing Miss. Fairfax tonight?
- Mrs. Fairfax : Miss. Fairfax. Oh, you mean Miss. Adela! Adela is the name of your future pupil.
- Jane : Indeed. Then she is not your daughter?
- Mrs. Fairfax : No, I have no family. She is Mr. Rochester's ward. But I will not keep you sitting up late tonight. Come, I will show you your bedroom.

[Jane takes rest and sleeps well at night. She wakes up early in the morning and goes out for a walk.]

- Mrs. Fairfax : What? Out already? You are an early riser. How do you like Thornfield?
- Jane : I like it very much.
- Mrs. Fairfax : Yes. It's a pretty place.

[Miss. Adela comes running up the lawn followed by her attendant Miss. Varens.]

- Mrs. Fairfax : Here she comes. Good morning Miss. Varens.
- Miss. Varens : Good morning, Mrs. Fairfax.
- Mrs. Fairfax : [To Adela]Come and speak to the lady who is going to teach you in future.
- Miss. Adela : Good morning, Miss. Jane.

Jane : Good morning. Come here. [Adela crosses to her.] You are beautiful. Tomorrow we will begin our lessons and learning.

Miss. Adela : Our learning?

Jane : Yes. We will take walks through the fields that surround Thornfield and we will learn about nature, animals and the flowers. We will study all we can that isn't in books and all we can that is. And we will paint.

Miss. Adela : Paint, Miss. Jane?

Jane : Yes, paint. I believe that art is the window of the soul. Do you like to draw, Miss. Adela?

Miss. Adela : Yes Miss. Jane. I do it all the time. I can sing and dance also. Shall I?

Miss. Fairfax : Adela, you have many weeks and many months to entertain Miss. Jane. Now you go to your room.

Jane : Yes, I will look forward to the entertainment eagerly. [Miss. Varens and Adela leave.]

[Jane starts teaching Adela and leads a new life in Thornfield.]

Charlotte Bronte

Discuss and Answer

1. Why does Jane want to go to school or learn anything in the first place?
2. Why does education become such an important issue for her as a child?
3. What does Jane's education at Lowood prepare her to do?

Chew on This

Try on an opinion or two and start a debate

In Jane's childhood, education takes the place of every single one of her emotional and physical needs—food, shelter, family, and friendship. Because Jane initially learns to understand the world in terms of a teacher—student relationship, all her friendships have some master—pupil tinge to them.

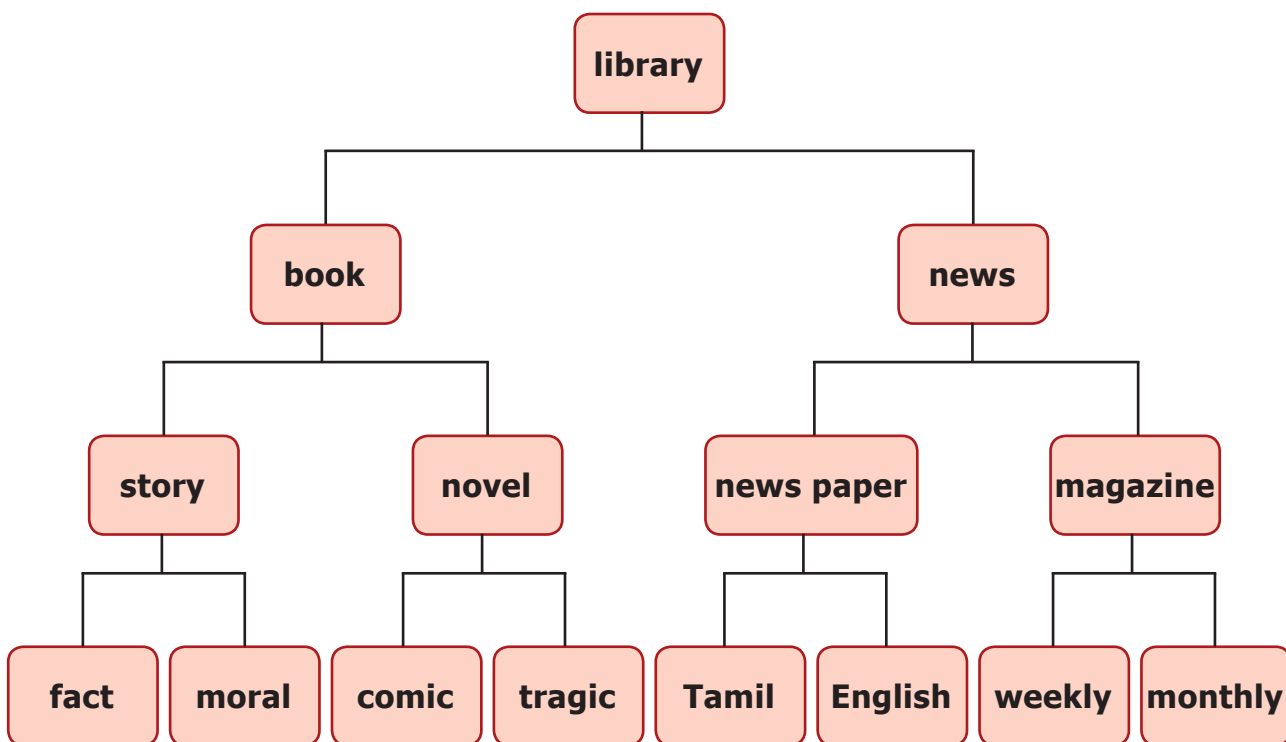

VOCABULARY

Smoking is prohibited for the duration of the flight. Thank you for choosing Indian Airlines. Enjoy your flight.

Unit 3

Dad : This is going to be a great camping trip. I haven't been to this mountain since

I was a young boy. Oh, I remember how peaceful it was and how great everything smelled. And the fishing was fantastic! My brother and I used to catch huge fish and fry them over the fire.

Daughter: Yeah, Dad, we've heard this story since we were babies. We know- peaceful scenery, good smell, fish, everything. I'm glad we're finally going to go so you can relive your old memories. You aren't going to make me fish with you though, are you?

Dad : Of course you are going to fish. You'll love it! Putting the worm on the hook... standing out in the cold water... waiting until the fish take a bite. Hmm... on second thought, maybe you won't like it so much. Why don't you just cook the fish for tonight's dinner?

Daughter: I guess I could do that. Anyway, when are we going to be there? I feel like we've been driving for hours.

Dad : It's just around this corner. You'll really love it. Hey, wait a minute! What's this shopping center doing in my old fishing spot?
