THE UMBRELLA AND THE CROW

Answer:

Holding an umbrella, a little girl was walking in the rain. After some time, the wind blew hard. A crow came and grabbed the umbrella with its beak. He flew far, far away. He placed the umbrella upside-down on one of the branches of a tree. Then, he kept his chicks in the umbrella. That's how the crow family found a nest for themselves.

Question 2:

Rearrange the following sentences in the right order to make it into a story on the left page.

A wind blows.

It is raining.

The crow flies away with the umbrella.

The girl has an umbrella.

The umbrella is now a nest.

The umbrella hangs from a tree.
