Afghanistan is completely surrounded by land. Afghanistan has Iran, Pakistan, Uzbekistan, Tajikistan, and Turkmenistan as its neighbours. Just like other desert countries, Afghanistan too has hot summers and cold winters.

Most of Afghanistan's land is either mountainous or arid. As a result of that, roughly around five percent of the land is farmed every year. The land selected for farming is irrigated by the farmers. On the other hand, forests cover around 2% of the total land area of the country.

Arid (adjective) - Having little or no rain; very dry

Irrigate (verb) - To supply water to an area of land, typically through pipes or channels, so that crops will grow

Afghan cuisine consists of many delicious rice dishes served with different kinds of curried sauces. Afghani desserts are often prepared with aromatic ingredients like cardamom and rosewater.

Afghanistan's architecture features mainly mosques, fortresses, and minarets that are spread throughout the country.

Minaret (noun) – A tall thin tower, usually forming part of a mosque, from which Muslims are called to prayer
