

The Icebreaker

Children going to school for the first time or returning to school after remote learning will benefit from this game.

Number of players

The minimum number of players required is two. The maximum number of players can be up to 10, but they have to play the game in pairs.

Things needed

A pair of dice

Parental involvement

All that the parents need to do is encourage their children to play this game with their friends.

Rules of the game

1. The questions in the boxes below need to be answered by the players.
2. Player 1 needs to roll the dice first and answer the question corresponding to the number, followed by Player 2, Player 3, and so on.
3. This game is an ice-breaker activity that would help the children bond with each other after a long break.
4. Children, who are new to a school or a playgroup, can be encouraged to play this so that they ease into the company of their friends quickly.

What is your favourite fruit?

What do you do during your free time?

Who is your best friend?

Which is your favourite toy?

What do you want to do
in school this year?

What did you do
during your holidays?

What you learn

Communication

Listening skills

Team work

I-spy Stationery

New school year means new stationery and school items! Here is a fun game to play with all those fresh supplies!

Number of players

Having one or two players would be ideal. Having more players would make it less challenging for them.

Parental involvement

Parents can help their children if they get stuck. For the most part, the game can be played independently by the child.

Rules of the game

1. The player must identify stationery or other items mentioned in the picture and count them.
2. They must write the number in the empty box on the right side of the picture.

What you learn

Attention to detail

Numeracy skills

Picture skills

